Thanks for visiting the GBC website. I'm David Harris, the Worship Pastor at Grace Baptist Church. I'm married to Connie, my "Southern Belle" from North Alabama. We have three children (Jordan, Allison, and Dylan) and two wonderful grandchildren (Calvin and Cordelia). I'm a native South Carolinian, a graduate of the University of Alabama (Roll Tide!), and live in the misty Endless Mountains of Northeastern Pennsylvania. I also on the music faculty at Clarks Summit University. I enjoy reading the Puritans, cycling, and playing the classical guitar.

We believe, as our statement of faith puts it, that the people of God will learn to love the glory of God as the ministers of God teach them to see and savor the Word of God. God's self-revelation is found in His Word. The self-love and relativism of our “ungodly” and “unrighteous” culture have negatively affected the church's corporate worship. A change of audience has occurred. Worship is often shaped more by what people desire than by the nature of God's self-disclosure found in the Bible. We will be changed only as we discover in the Word what God must be like for our joy in the face of Jesus Christ.

Hope to see you soon! We'd love to have you visit GBC.
